Our vision is to lead teen girls in the California Juvenile Justice System toward accountability - to themselves, to others and to their community. By providing practical tools to effect behavioral change, we aspire to be a nationally recognized method for the effective treatment of at-risk adolescent girls, particularly in the juvenile justice system.

self-awareness, self-respect & self-control

“How many times can I say thank you for showing me a gift that’s powerful... A gift of peace.”

“Yoga is a safe environment. The teachers create this. Benefits I experience with yoga: clarity, flexibility, fuller understanding of my body. I feel stronger, healthier.”

The Art of Yoga Project would like to recognize all of its dedicated yoga instructors, many who generously donate their time.

While we work to assure the accuracy of our donor information, we apologize if any name has been inadvertently misspelled or overlooked. Please contact info@theartofyogaproject.org for corrections.

Dear Friends,

Every day of the week, teen girls in juvenile halls around the Bay Area come to know and understand the power of women. The Art of Yoga Project is making a positive impact in the lives of incarcerated teen girls, as talented yoga teachers, artists and therapists bring our innovative Yoga and Creative Arts Curriculum into their world. We know that until a girl truly cares about herself and her body she will be unlikely to change her high-risk behavior. As women, we model this self-care, accountability and empowerment. We trust in the resilience and personal power of each girl regardless of her circumstance. We believe in our motto “Nothing Beyond Her Reach”, as we have seen countless girls achieve greater self-awareness, self-respect and self-control through our work.

Even in this challenging economic climate, our organization is also reaching beyond. We have developed a strong leadership team and maintained our rigorous service levels. In addition to our core program, we have pioneered a Yoga Mentor Program to guide these young girls as they exit juvenile halls and transition back into their communities. We welcomed three new members to our national Affiliate Program, enabling us to grow beyond our borders. We have engaged the yoga community as our partner, and now many local yoga studios and teachers donate the proceeds of their classes and hold events.

As the new Executive Director this year, I am grateful and proud to be part of this extraordinary group of women. One of our girls said it so well:

“You guys help me be more comfortable in my own skin and what a wonderful, beautiful thing that being a woman is.”

On behalf of the girls we serve, we would like to thank all of our donors, ambassadors, partners, foundations, volunteers, staff, advisors, and board for their generosity and support of our work. This dynamic network is what breathes life into The Art of Yoga Project. It is the power that makes us all realize there is “Nothing Beyond Her Reach”.

With deep gratitude,

Lisa Pedersen
Executive Director

“The Art of Yoga Project’s multi-dimensional technique is particularly effective for the girls in the juvenile justice system that have had histories of juvenile crime, substance abuse, severe physical, sexual, and emotional abuse and neglect.”

Supervising Juvenile Judge Marta Diaz
